Delivery: These are online courses and can be accessed from anywhere. Most units have a CrashChat. These are live training sessions and, providing that you have a headset with a microphone, you can speak with your trainer. The workbooks you can do at your own pace and send them to your trainer for marking.

Your trainer will return the books for corrections or he contacts you for a review.

Most units have a practical component that you will perform at your workplace and we prefer that this is on a real job and not simulated.

Assessments vary from unit to unit, but can be a practical task, a set of questions, a professional conversation on the phone or a combination of them.

RPL: Depending on your experience, some of these units can be RPL'd, meaning, we can assess if you have sufficient experience to fulfil the criteria without training.
